

Lord Lanto Speaks

Welcome!

I wish to speak to you today about raising your spiritual vibration through love – this is quicker than any classes you attend or books you might read. Love is the healer in all aspects of life here on this planet. Yes, you offer the healing modality of Rahanni and of course many other therapies will do this. But if the healing isn't offered with love flowing from the heart, it will not work.

Yes, a certain amount of Light can be channelled, but the guides will find it a lot more difficult to bring through an abundance of deep healing to flow through your hands towards your client without the added essence of the love held in your heart; the two must work together. I cannot begin to tell you how important this is, even going through your life every day, working in any environment, at home with family and friends, with animals, anytime, anywhere, your Light is shining, but if you want to make a difference to people's lives then first of all, Love yourself.

I know it is always being said but it is a truth, for if you cannot be bothered to love or care for yourself – how can you love another – we are one! So, start by caring and loving you, not just with words and saying it as though you have to, you need to believe in your heart how wonderful it is for your soul to be here on this planet at a very challenging time. You came here for a reason to help bring more Love and Light into humanities hearts, no matter how this occurs, it is your soul's journey, what you signed up for in this incarnation. You cannot force anything, for if you do you will be blocked from channelling the healing Light. It is all about respect for self, integrity in everything you do, compassion for every living thing, this is the criteria for becoming a healer on this planet. If you get into these therapies purely for how much money you can earn – forget it, again you will be blocked.

Yes, you run a business, that isn't a problem as you need to earn money to feed and clothe yourself and family, but as long as there is a balance.

Remember, the healing is free, your time isn't. We, of the spiritual hierarchy recognise this and the need to earn money, for this is how things work on this planet. It is an exchange of energy and there is nothing wrong with that for it keeps everything in balance. Please remember, it is the quality of the healing not the quantity that is important. It is when a person becomes greedy that the balance is lost, along with the integrity of the healing.

People used to say Jeshua said, 'Money is the root of all evil', he did not say that, another mis-quote, what he said was 'Greed' is the root of all evil – big difference. If any of this is making you feel uncomfortable then please stop and think how you can make adjustments in your life or your work.

I recognise that some of you are worried about too many people in your area seem to be doing more healing or teaching than you, and you feel it isn't fair, then take a step back and look at how you are going about your business.

Are you scared of competition, where are you coming from within your heart centre? Is it the poor me syndrome, or are you getting greedy and thinking, I am losing money, that person is taking client's I should be seeing? It is all about attitude and remembering, people will be guided to the appropriate healer, for the guides know the benefit that can be received from that Practitioner.

The more you worry about what other people are doing the more you are not accepting and coming from your heart. When you start to feel gratitude for the life you have and recognise the importance of your soul's journey, then you will release the fear of lack of abundance and begin to accept the beautiful gift you have been given, therefore you start to connect back to your heart centre, without fear or judgement. The guides know deep down you are a kind, caring person, but you need a bit of a shake-up in your attitude. This may sound harsh, but it's true. When you feel gratitude for what you have already, more will come to you, this is universal law, because your heart will be open and the Love and Light will shine out to others. #

In turn they will feel the pure essence of who you truly are and will want to spend time with you and to share a journey with you. When you have a feeling deep inside that resonates with love, you get an excited feeling; that is your connection to us of the spiritual hierarchy. We can then draw closer to you for we see your Love and Light flowing brightly through your heart centre and your aura. So please, stop and think about your attitude and how you could possibly raise your spiritual vibration with a deeper love for all life and by accepting who you truly are, recognising the opportunity you have been given to help so many, without greed or judgement, just the pure essence of love that radiates from deep within. Love is the centre of everything, make sure your Light is shining through for all to see and feel; then you will be sought after by those that feel your warmth, love and compassion.

Please communicate with me and ask me to shine my healing Light through your back into your heart, feel my essence of Divine Love and Light for all living things and for all to benefit, as you continue on your beautiful journey of discovery.

Love and Blessings to you all here today. I am Lord Lanto – Teacher for planet Earth and beyond.
